PREDICTS RUSH OF TOURISTS HERE IN WINTER SEASON

G. Wiley Cox, Back From Trip East and Canada, Sees Record Travel

Southern California will be the livest place in the United States or Canada next winter!

This prediction was made this morning by G. Wiley Cox at 1510 South San Fernando road in the South Glendale Dry Goods store.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Cox returned recently from a trip to New York city via the Canadian Rockies.

On account of the coal strike and the contemplated famine in fuel, Mr. Cox was told that many residents of both eastern United States and Canada expect to lock up their homes and shut down their factories and migrate to sunny California for the winter.

"Everybody you meet is talking about coming to California this winter," asserted Mr. Cox. "Canada gets her coal, you know, from the states and they have awfully severe winters up there.

"Buisness in New York is not like it should be. I heard any number of complaints."

L. A. World Capital

Mr. and Mrs. Cox had a very pleasant trip and were not inconvenienced much by the railroad strike because they traveled to the eastern coast through Canada. They went on the steamship H. F. Alexander from Wilmington to Seattle. There they took another boat through Puget Sound to Vancouver, where they boarded the Canadian Pacific. Enroute they stopped over at Winnipeg. From Montreal they went by rail to New York city.

While Mrs. Cox remained a few weeks longer in New York city, Mr. Cox returned to his former home in Gallatin, Missouri.

In the opinion of Mr. Cox, at the present time Los Angeles is the "Capital of the World."

Glendale Shriners Picnic on Wednesday

Wednesday afternoon and night, August 30, will be the big day in Shrinedom, which will have its temporary headquarters at the new Glendale-Verdugo city park. The first annual basket picnic of the Shrine club of Glendale is the occasion, and Shriners from Hollywood, Pasadena, San Pedro, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Eagle Rock, Burbank, Glendale and others points have arranged to accept the invitation to attend in groups.

Athletic and other contests for Shriners, their ladies, and the kiddies, will form an important part of the day program. Music will abound, novel stunts, funny clowns, speechmaking by some prominent personages, pie-eatig contests, watermelon-eating races —in short, a program of the kind for which the Shriners are noted.

Dancing and entertainment by professionals in the evening, with music by Kelly's shrine club orchestra will be the concluding feature of a day promised to be interesting.

Merchants Meet In Informal Discussion

Nearly two score members and visitors turned out to the regular weekly noonday luncheon of the Merchants Credit association in Glendale yesterday, despite the fact that many of the business men are away on their vacations at this time.

Little business was transacted, but the informal discussion of current affairs was thoroughly enjoyed, apparently, and remarked upon as being of the greatest value in social respect.

Due to the absence of President Owen C. Emery, who was in Los Angeles on legal business, director W. P. Potter was in the chair. The usual routine, of importance only to members of the organization, was accomplished in the shortest possible space of time.

Party of Deer Hunters Is En Route to Bishop

Lookout, deers! A party of "deerslayers" from Glendale is now en route by auto to Bishop and the high Sierras.

The quartet includes S. H. Malarkey, 415 West Doran street; A. J. Malarkey, 347 North Jackson street; S. W. Fenton, 530 Oak street, and E. L. Rice of San Bernardino.

It is understood that the hunters will remain on the job long enough to catch at least one deer —even if they have to put salt on his tail.

CUMMINS GIVES WARNING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Congress must choose between allowing the public to be plundered by coal profiteers, or passing the administration bill to give the interstate commerce commission blanket power to distribute coal and prevent the "exaction of unreasonable high prices," Senator Cummins, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, warned this afternoon in reporting the measure to the senate.

AUTO FILLED WITH WATERMELONS IN SMASHUP

Over Six Tons of Ripe Ones in Crash But Shipment Fully Insured

An immense truck, which tried to take a short cut to Los Angeles, was the source of much interest early this morning in southern Glendale.

While going east on South San Fernando road, the steering knuckle became "peevish" and the truck, which weighs 9500 pounds empty and was by no means empty, careened into the southeast corner of El Bonito avenue and San Fernando road, smashing both the fire hydrant and the ornamental lighting post at this intersection.

Fortunately, neither Herman Seamann, who was driving, nor his brother, Paul Seamann, who accompanied him, were injured.

The truck was loaded to the top with six and a half tons of watermelons which were being taken from a ranch at Chatsworth to the market in Los Angeles. It was estimated that the force of the collision had split about half the melons. However, both truck and occupants were insured.

W. P. Potter Tells Tale of Rattlesnake

Walter P. Potter of the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company has just returned from an enjoyable motor trip and outing spent in the neighborhood of Idlewild.

In an encounter with a rattlesnake, Mr. Potter says the snake got rattled and left without the tip of his tail, including several rattles. Other than this tale, Potter had but one exciting bit of news and that was having seen a flivver fliv over the embankment and dump man, wife and child, near Azusa. The car was just ahead of Potter's. To his surprise the wrecked family calmly arose from the debris, drafted passing motorists to aid in putting their tin steed on its legs again, and motored off with a careless wave of their hands in acknowledgment of assistance rendered.

Pine Crest Outing for Glendale Folk

After a three-day outing at Pine Crest in the mountains north of San Bernardino, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ferguson of 525 North Jackson street, and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Widmeyre of 518 North Jackson street, arrived home last night.

They say weather conditions in the mountains were ideal for a camping outing. Sunday and Monday the thermometer in San Bernardino passed the 105 mark, while in the mountains there was a thunder shower which cooled the atmosphere.

From Pine Crest the party motored over to Lake Arrowhead, which they say is one of the most attractive and promising mountain resorts in the Southern California mountains.

Pennsylvania Club's Picnic Is Postponed

Due to the fact that Monday, September 4, is a holiday and many people are planning weekend parties the officers of the Pennsylvania club, of which Dr. F. M. Collier is president, have decided to defer the club picnic, which was to have been held on that date, until September 16. The picnic will take place at Echo park and all former residents of Pennsylvania now living in Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank have been invited to attend.

George W. Rich, One of First on Rolls, Is Another Guest

The Glendale Exchange club had as its guest yesterday noon at the Broadway Inn, 637 East Broadway, H. M. Harter, secretary of the National Exchange club.

The secretary of the Los Angeles Exchange club, E. W. Hill of 443 West Elk avenue, was a guest of the occasion, also.

Another guest was George W. Rich of 514 Oak street who was a member of one of the first Exchange clubs in the United States a number of years ago when he was a resident of Toledo, Ohio.

The charter emblem of the organization was officially presented to the local club by Mr. Harter, who expressed his pleasure at the privilege.

This emblem is a polished plaque in the form of a shield about a foot in diameter. In the center is a small tablet of bronze. Around the outer rim is a circle in which is inscribed the motto of the organization "Unity of Service" and "Exchange Club." Inside the circle are the initials "X. C." interwoven.

Duty To Give Aid

"This is a modern organization of accomplishment," declared Mr. Harter. "And notwithstanding what your chamber of commerce, your church organizations, and your civic organizations are doing, if they are attempting to do something worth while it is your duty to jump in and help them. Anything that benefits this community is going to benefit you.

Captain W. B. Kelly of 106 West Colorado street, president of the local club, officially accepted the emblem and promised that the members of the organization would stand together as a unit for service. He said that the members of the Glendale Exchange club would continue to be 100 per cent Americans.

Prominent Members

President Warren G. Harding and many other prominent citizens of the United States are members of the National Exchange club, according to Mr. Harter. He said that the organization was so big that one month he had visited the Atlantic, the Pacific, the Gulf of Mexico and the Great Lakes in the discharge of his duty.

A photograph of those present was taken after the luncheon by Glenn R. Dolberg of 206 West Broadway, who grouped them in front of the city hall.

The meeting was attended by the following members: George A. Whitaker, J. C. McConnell, George B. White, Herman Psenner, E. T. Heisser, W. C. Waring, A. B. Castile, J. C. May, George H. Thomas, Attorney W. C. Anspach, George T. Harness, E. J. Smith, R. E. Johnston, A. Gelmor, W. Q. Widdows, George M. Lindsey, Dr. H. R. Boyer, W. H. Block, Hoyt, Ed N. Radke and James Howarth.

H. S. Webb Departs to Golf Tournament

"I am never in better company than when alone" is an old saw which doesn't appeal to H. S. Webb, progressive merchant of 103 South Brand boulevard, Glendale.

Mr. Webb is leaving today for the big golf tournament at Del Monte, and he has been unable to find a single man—nor even a married man—to go along with him.

Early this morning, Mr. Webb, assisted by Secretary Frank H. Filling, was attending to routine affairs of the Merchants' Credit Association in order to leave a clean slate of his civic duties as treasurer of that organization.

MEN RETURN TO WORK

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—Southern Pacific shop workers at Mojave were back at work today following a strike of a few hours in the yards there. According to reports received here by railroad officials the strike started as a result of an argument between the workers and strike sympathizers in a motion picture theatre. One man drew a revolver but was arrested.

ARTHUR KASE AND WIFE ARE BACK FROM JOURNEY

Give Interesting facts On Middle West and East; Business Is Good

Accounts of a most interesting three months' trip through the middle west and east are being given by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Kase of 331 North Isabel street, who returned home Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Kase traveled east via the Union Pacific, stopping for a visit in Omaha, Neb., where they formerly lived and where Mr. Kase is still interested in the Kase Photographic studio. Going on east they stopped at other points of interest. Upon returning they stopped in Missouri at Mrs. Kase's home and also in Denver and Colorado Springs.

Do Not Notice Heat

"We had a fine trip," said Mr. Kase, "with no inconvenience from the strikes. Of course, the heat was very intense and we are not noticing the hot spell southern California is now experiencing because it was so much hotter in the middle west and east. Why, in central Nebraska and northern Kansas the corn is practically all burned up.

"Business conditions are good. The strike and the tie-up of coal will probably affect business in the east, but it is in good shape.

"One of the pleasant parts of our trip was the receipt of the Glendale Evening News. The service was splendid and we received it regularly, which enabled us to keep in touch with what was going on at home while we were away."

Community Progress Is Told at Meeting

Glendale and its community spirit of progress was the main theme at a big open meeting of the chamber of commerce of San Gabriel in that town last night. Secretary James M. Rhoades and Assistant Secretary Eugene F. Sanders of the Glendale chamber of commerce were headliners on the program, and their talks were stirring lectures on the present and future of Glendale and the manner of maintainig the stride accomplished by commuity unity.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Gillenwaters of Alhambra accompanied Rhoades and Sanders to San Gabriel. Mrs. Gillenwaters is a director of the Alhambra chamber of commerce.

Club's Art Section Plans for Meetings

The committee of the arts and crafts section of the Tuesday Afternoon club met yesterday at the home of the curator, Mrs. Fred Deal, 237 North Louise street, at which time final arrangements were made for the next year's meetings, and also for the booth at the club's society circus to be given in November. It was decided at yesterday's meeting to accept the offer of E. C. Pendroy and the club will meet the first and third Thursday of each month in the art department of Pendroy's department store at Harvard and Brand, instead of in the library building. The first meeting of the section wil be held at Pendroy's September 7.

CHAMBER LUNCHEON

Despite the exigencies of election the regular weekly luncheon of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was held at noon today. Due to the number of directors and members on vacation, the attendance was not as great as at some previous meetings, but was commendable in consideration of the inauspicious circumstances.

LEAVES FOR VISIT TO RESIDENCE OF 50 YEARS AGO

J. M. Barrett, Accompanied by Daughter, to See Scenes of Boyhood

A visit to his boyhood home after fifty years' absence is the interesting anticipation of T. M. Barrett of 364 West Wilson avenue, who left today with his daughter, Miss Isabel Barrett, for a visit with relatives and friends in northern Wisconsin and Minnesota. It was in that section that Mr. Barrett spent his boyhood and volunteered his services during the Civil war and he has been looking forward for months to his return, although he stated this morning that he expected to find many familiar faces and landmarks gone.

To Attend Encampment

After their visit in Wisconsin and Minnesota Mr. Barrett and his daughter will go to Des Moines, Ia., for the national G. A. R. encampment, which opens September 24 and continues until the last day of the month. Mr. Barrett is a delegate to the gathering from the Glendale G. A. R. post, while Miss Barrett is a delegate from the local Daughters of Veterans' tent.

At the close of the encampment Mr. Barrett and his daughter will go to Kansas, where Mr. Barrett was one of the pioneers, spending twenty-two years there after he returned from the Civil war.

They plan to return to California the last of October by the southern route.

Two Local Parties Return From Trips

Two parties of Glendale friends leaving Glendale at the same time, arriving at Yosemite National park at the same time and returning to Glendale at the same time without having planned this feature, was the coincidence which marked the trip of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Rowe of 216 South Orange street and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Cowlin of 346 Hawthorne street, who was accompanied by Mrs. L. T. Rowley of 334 Vine street.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowe left Glendale two weeks ago last Saturday. After visiting Yosemite National park they stopped at Stockton and then San Francisco, where they were guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rowe. They also visited friends at McFarland, relatives in Oakland, Tuolumne, Mariposa Grove and Monterey.

Mrs. Cowlin and Mrs. Rowley left Glendale two weeks ago Saturday for California's favorite national park. Mrs. Cowlin drove the entire trip. Stops were made at Bakersfield, Big Trees, Yosemite and then at Berkeley, where Mrs. Cowlin visited her son Robert, who graduated from Berkeley last June. They also visited Paso Robles and Santa Barbara.

Mildred Johnson Is Home From East

After a two months' trip in the east visiting old friends, old scenes, relatives and many places of interest, Miss Mildred Johnson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Johnson, 314 North Orange street, has returned home again, having experienced the good fortune of escaping the usual inconveniences and undue delays on the homeward journey back to Glendale.

Besides spending several weeks at her old home in Duluth, Minn., Miss Johnson visited many widely known and interesting points in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, with a brief stop-over in Kansas City, Mo. Miss Johnson returns to her desk at the First National bank where she is employed in one of the departments within a few days.

A. B. Clement Home Scene of Gathering

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Clement of 1321 North Pacific avenue and daughter, Mrs. Lewis Leppelman are entertaining as their house-guests Mrs. W. S. Berry of Lindsay, Mrs. E. F. Clement and children of San Joaquin, E. S. Wittel and two grandchildren of Demopolis, Alabama, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hodge and two children of Visalia, Calif. The visitors have been taking a number of side trips in addition to enjoying the beauties and building activity of Glendale. Mr. Wittel was here six years ago and is amazed at the wonderful growth of Glendale since that time.

Hold Celebration for Thirteenth Birthdays

Thirteenth birthdays were celebrated yesterday in a joint birthday party on the beach at Venice by Helen White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson D. White and George B. Karr, Jr., son of George B. Karr, Sr. A good time was enjoyed by all and the sand did not interfere with the flavor of the birthday cake.

J. Gannon of San Leandro to answer to a speeding charge. Officers on the trail of Erb today learned that he was in Los Angeles and an effort will be made to serve the warrant upon him there. Erb was arrested for speeding several days ago. Four months ago he was arrested in company with three fraternity brothers when found driving an auto that had been reported stolen.

HURL BOMBS AT RAILROAD SHOPS; NONE INJURED

DANVILLE, Ill., Aug. 29.—Four bombs were hurled this morning at the shops of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad here, in what is believed by the authorities to have been an attempt to injure or kill 375 workers and guards housed in one of the buildings. One bomb exploded against the north side of the shops and its pieces were scattered over the right of way of the Big Four. One exploded near the coal chute, one tore a hole in the coal chute, one tore a hole in the roof of the building and one damaged the side of the same building. Every window was shattered by the terrific concussion. The 375 men in the building were thrown into a panic by the succession of blasts. Guards rushed out with guns drawn. A hurried search followed but no trespassers were found.

HARDING SEEKS AUTHORITY TO TAKE MINES, ROADS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Out of the cloud of uncertainty that has existed for several days as to President Harding's attitude on the question of seizing railroads and coal mines, came a clarifying announcement from the White House this afternoon that Mr. Harding desires to be armed with authority to take such steps before the forthcoming recess of congress. At the same time, it was stated most emphatically at the White House that seizure of either railroads or coal mines is the furtherest thing from President Harding's mind and is a step that will be taken only in case of grim necessity and as a last resort to prevent the public from freezing this winter. President Harding considers, however, that seizure legislation should be passed by congress purely as a "preparedness measure," so that should the industrial situation become so critical during the congressional recess as to constitute a real national menace, there would be no legal or constitutional question as to his right to take over mines or railroads.

REPORT LITTLE CHANCE TO RESCUE ENTOMBED MEN

JACKSON, Cal., Aug. 29.—After thirty-six hours of frenzied work on the part of a heroic band of workers, rescue of forty-eight miners entrapped nearly a mile below the surface of the earth in the depths of the famous Argonaut gold mine seemed as far off as when news first spread of their plight. Despite all efforts the fire which cut off the escape of the miners has spread. Early today preparations were made to battle it by hand. Fire fighting squads equipped with gas masks planned to carry their desperate battle into the burning levels. At the same time relays of men refreshed by a few hours' rest were driving forward from the Kennedy mine adjoining the Argonaut in an effort to open up a passage way to the burning mine through which the men, if alive, may escape. Reports from the fire fighters were discouraging as the day progressed. Little progress was made by the valiant fighters, in fact the flames and smoke appeared to be gaining again. One of the mine experts on the scene estimated that the trapped miners, under favorable circumstances, had forty hours' air supply in the lower reaches of the mine. That period of grace will be up late this afternoon.

60 PER CENT VOTE FOR THIS CITY IS PREDICTED

Polls Remain Open Until 7 o'Clock; Results to Be Announced by News

Election Returns!

Election returns will be flashed by The Glendale Evening News on a screen hung from the Chamber of Commerce balcony, over the Glen Inn, opposite this office, the first reports expected about 8 p. m.

The Elks' projecting machine has been placed and tested, giving a very plain reproduction of typewritten reports. For entertainment A. M. Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra will play in the lobby of the Chamber of Commerce, beginning at 8 o'clock, giving a two hour concert, a good drawing card.

Meyer Lightner of the Artistic Brunswick Shoppe, will have one of the sweet toned phonographs attached to a magnavox, playing the latest records from one of the Chamber of Commerce office windows. The same music store is providing the piano for the orchestra. Thanks are due many other business men for aiding in making tonight's show a success.

Chief of Police John D. Fraser is making special arrangements to handle the traffic and hundreds of cars and thousands of people are expected to be on hand for The Evening News leased wire reports and special local returns.

Indications at noon today were that a 60 per cent vote will be polled in the primary election today insofar as Glendale is concerned.

Being a Republican stronghold with almost every position of importance being fought for by two or more candidates the chances are that 80 to 90 per cent of Grand Old Party followers will make their way to the polls before nightfall.

Local Democrats are evincing considerable interest in the election, desiring to see their fellow townsman, Mattison B. Jones, nominated for governor.

Serving Lemonade

The polling places will be very quiet during the afternoon when the heat of the day makes a citizen's duty something similar to a Turkish bath. Lemonade is being served at many of the election booths—to officials only, of course.

Several humorous incidents have been reported. A man and wife called at their precinct polling place, the husband being permitted to vote while the wife was informed she must be living elsewhere. Instead of rushing away for a divorce, they hurried to a nearby poll where her name was found listed in one of the registrar's puzzles.

Polls Open to 7 p. m.

The polls will not close until 7 o'clock and it is not expected to have any reports before 8 p. m. The larger cities cannot be expected to give definite information before 11 p. m., it is stated at the registrar's office.

The Glendale Evening News has arranged to keep its International News Service leased wire open from 7 p. m. to 2 a. m., as well as obtaining local reports from Los Angeles, Eagle Rock, Pasadena and other adjacent points. These will be flashed on a screen hung from the Chamber of Commerce building.

Predict Huge Majority for Senator Hiram Johnson

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29. — Indications were as the primary election day dawned with perfect California weather that one of the heaviest—if not the largest — votes in California will be cast today in deciding whether Hiram Johnson shall be returned to the United States senate. The Republican nomination which he is contesting today with Charles C. Moore, wealthy business man, and Olive Brower, is tantamount to re-election.

A statement from Jonhson headquarters today predicted the nomination of Senator Jonhson by at least 170,207. This was the majority of the head of the Johnson ticket two years ago over Moore who headed the Herbert Hoover ticket. The issues and alignments were much the same in that fight.

Moore headquarters put forth claims of victory by 75,000.

The betting odds reflected the general belief on the outcome. Believers in Johnson's success were backing their belief with money at four and even five to one. There was considerable betting at even money that Johnson would defeat Moore by 150,000. Today it was reported that these odds had increased to two to one that Hiram would win by that figure.

While interest centers in the senatorial issue, the gubernatorial contest between Governor William D. Stephens, incumbent, for renomination and Friend W. Richardson, present state treasurer, waxed warm. Governor Stephens claimed the nomination

CHARLES JONES IN WESTERN PICTURE WINS PRAISE

Clever Horseman in Latest Film Is Offering Today at Glendale Theatre

Charles Jones, the William Fox star, who has jumped to the front rank of screen favorites in the past year, will be at the Glendale theatre tonight in his latest picture of western life, "Pardon My Nerve!" Those who have followed this clever horseman know that he has shown considerable nerve as well as increasing acting ability in each succeeding picture in which he has appeared. The natural conclusion is that he will out-nerve anything he ever has done when you see him in "Pardon My Nerve."

It is said he underwent special preparation for this picture in order to get up extra speed and additional power for the battles in which he has to take part.

Eileen Percy is Jones' leading woman in this offering, the story of which was written by William Patterson White.

There will be other interesting numbers on the program, which is well worth attending before the election returns will take you away. See the show first.

KINDNESS CERTAIN TO GET RESULTS SAYS PASTOR

Social Service Wins, States Rev. Louis Tinning In His Sunday Sermon

Rev. Louis Tinning, assistant pastor of the Presbyterian church, drew the subject for Sunday morning's sermon from the narrative of Paul's shipwreck upon the Island of Malta, the kind reception of the natives to him and his companions and his kindness to them in ministering to the sick.

"In speaking of social service one employs a term much used and much abused," he stated. "We are indeed to minister but not that merely, it must be in the name of Jesus Christ and for His Glory. When Paul left that place doubtless there were those who had been brought to Christ by him. He had been thrown upon the island drenched and cold and met welcome and a good fire.

"There is a cold that may be felt in the torrid zone, the coldest cold in the world, spiritual cold. Men may make the mistake of going to such cold ones and doing all material things of civilizing and cleansing and leave them just as cold. This is useless. But men have gone to the ends of the earth with the saving Gospel and all such things as soap and sanitation followed in their natural place. Social service absolutely must be first for soul salvation to be the real thing.

Warms and Thrills

In Revelation God said, 'I would that ye were either cold or hot'—one thing or the other. Men say 'Take the middle of the road'—neither one thing nor the other. But chill and death come that way. When we read the Word, it always warms. And private prayer, how it warms and thrills! And so the family altar and the meeting with God's people.

"Everywhere we meet opportunities of doing good that will warm us. This program is to be conveted for you that wherever you are it can be said that you go about doing good, doing God's will. Not only here but the uttermost parts of the earth beckon for us, for Christian ministry.

"Because of the cold, we need a fire. We need to be spiritually warmed to a high degree. All about us are men and women shipwrecked and suffering with great cold. They need the cross of Christ. This saving warmth con only come through Christian people. Let us say, 'Come and be warmed and saved by my Saviour.'"

Battle of Ballots Rages Laugh, Forget the Heat News, Scepter of World Hawaiians and Ambitions

By Gil A. Cowan

THE battle of ballots is being waged as this is printed.

By the time Comment is read tomorrow afternoon several momentous questions, both of local, state and national import will have been answered.

In some instances the campaign has but begun, for the primary is in reality only a test of strength.

However, if nominations are made not to your choice, it may be your own fault if you did not vote today.

So, if there is time yet left, get to the polls and cast your ballot.

After a strenuous day it made the writer happy last evening to visit the Glendale Theatre and hear the Brown saxophone six.

It was a real treat to see their antics, to hear their melodious music and sit back and chuckle and laugh and applaud at the keen entertainment provided.

Surely some Glendale people missed a real treat, for there was more than one vacant sat.

Maybe it was the heat.

Certainly it has been warm.

The past few days have shown our eastern friends en tour here how hot it may be—and still have cool nights.

California weather is compensating.

When you stand in front of The Glendale Evening News office tonight, watching the election returns flashed on the screen adorning the front of the Chamber of Commerce building, above the Glen Inn, remember it took hours of work on the part of builders, electricians and other artisans to give you the NEWS.

The interest of everyone, the soul of the people, is tied up in NEWS. It is the great scepter of the world today.

You have the telegraph, the telephone, the automobile, the bicycle, the projecting machine, the typewriter, all to thank in the presentation of NEWS bulletins tonight.

Will you be among those present at the Chamber of Commerce building between the hours of 8 p. m. and midnight? We'll say you will if you hold any interest whatever in the outcome of this primary election.

It is interesting to read a woman's views on Hawaii, published recently in these columns. According to the reporter what was inferred is about half what she said regarding the intermingling of races.

But here is a paragraph from the Christian Science Monitor that is interesting and makes one feel that the old world isn't so bad after all:

"Hawaii, far off by itself in the middle of the Pacific ocean, is inhabited by a conglomerate mixture of races. Yet the boys and girls there do not seem to differ greatly from young folk in other parts of the world. This is revealed in an investigation made by the Hawaiian Department of Public Instruction, which shows that only seven-tenths of 1 per cent of the 1856 girls questioned expressed a wish to have anything to do with housework. Forty-six per cent of them want to enter professions and become teachers or dentists or doctors. Twenty-one per cent would like to be stenographers, typists or bookkeepers while 14 per cent would be dressmakers, milliners or seamstresses. Among the 1901 boys questioned, 50 per cent want to be mechanics or electricians. Only 5 per cent seek farm life, and one-half of 1 per cent choose manual labor. Fifteen per cent aspire to become doctors, lawyers, teachers or dentists."

Offers to Rent Real Cool Spot; Don't Rush, Folks!

One place in Glendale at least is nice and cool!

Tom Sprinkle says the particular spot he has in mind is the ice-box in the butcher shop of the Gateway Market.

Claude Caswell has been invited to rent it for the balance of the week by some of the overheated citizens of southern Glendale. He is now reported to be drawing up a schedule of rentals based upon the probable amount of refrigeration required. He is figurin' on charging newspaper reporters three times the ordinary room rate.

Who says that a 1914 Cadillac isn't a good car? Park Arnold has written back to the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber Company at 460 West Los Feliz road to inform his "confederates" there that he made the trip from Glendale to Medford, Oregon, in 36 hours which is considered record time. "There is a good deal of talk down here about a moving picture house," remarked C. J. Orff yesterday, in the barber shop of his new building at 1734 South San Fernando road. He says that the next exciting thing in the neighborhood is the racket and commotion raised by motorists speeding along San Fernando road early in the morning.

Mrs. J. E. Daugherty and two children, James and Clarissa, are expected back this week at their home, 756 South San Fernando road from Joplin, Missouri, where they have been spending the summer. The railway strike is not expected to interfere with their arrival.

Len Lattimer arrived a few days ago from Clear Lake, Iowa, to spend the winter at 617 Vine street with his sister, Mrs. C. J. Tuttle.

Business Conditions In District Good, Report Various Merchants

A postal has been received from Mr. and Mrs. G. H. McLean of 1526 South San Fernando road announcing their arrival in Portland, Ore., en route to Yellowstone. They parked there long enough to give their Auburn sedan a rest and hired a Packard taxi to take in the sights. Their friends are getting considerable "kick" out of this information.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabel and their two sons, Ed and Russell, were accompanied by Mrs. Gabel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pittman of 1335 South San Fernando road. All enjoyed a pleasant day.

"Keep your eye on this spot and watch us grow!" This is the slogan of J. W. Anderson and his son, Joseph Anderson, who opeate a grocery store at 1420 South San Fernando road, in Southern Glendale. The interior of the establishment has now been completely remodeled. "Dad" says that since he has paid his taxes he wants his merchandise to be more visible.

Irregulars Menacing Dundalk Port Again

DUBLIN, Aug. 29.—Republican irregulars were again menacing the port of Dundalk in the northern part of County Louth today, but the force was described as weak in strength and no fears were felt here of a movement southward against this city.

The free staters have redoubled their efforts to clean up the guerilla bands in the provinces but the work is difficult. The larger bands of irregulars have split up into small groups that are hiding in mountains and forests, making ambush attacks against the free staters and raiding trains.

A number of new ambush attacks against free state troops were reported today from the province.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.—Advertisement.

Advertiser Displays Faith Is Unbounded

In Glendale there is at least one person with faith in human nature and the honesty of mankind.

This is demonstrated by the advertisement, classified, which appeared in yesterday's Evening News, as follows:

"Lost—$20 bill near Ralphs' Grocery store. Return to Ralphs' grocery cashier for reward."

Yes, here's an optimist, this advertiser. Don't know who he or she is, but the advertisement indicates a high faith in fellow man and a canny knowledge that The News reaches honest people throughout its subscription list.

Anyone who brings back that twenty bucks is due for a lot of publicity in Glendale and environs.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

BLOOD PRESSURE—PART II

Yesterday I told you, among other things about blood pressure, that the normal adult systolic b. p. should be about 100 plus one-half the age. This rule has been deducted from the blood pressure of thousands of normal aduits. The data was taken from the New York life insurance statistics.

Should you desire to, and can you keep your blood pressure normal? Is there danger in a high blood pressure? Yes, to both of those questions.

Many physicians maintain that high blood pressure is neither a disease nor a symptom of disease, but merely a physiologic response of nature to meet some circulatory need, and in itself should not be interfered with unless nature loses control. The thing to do is to remove the cause of the h. p. b.

However, all the authorities agree that prolonged h. b. p. will eventually cause a hardening and degeneration of the arteries—arterio-sclerosis. Arterio - sclerosis may, in turn, make the pressure still higher and this is a mean circle. The heart having to overwork so much to pump the blood through the rigid pipes, may finally go on a strike and decide to quit. The cerebral and kidney arteries may become affected, and this obviously is bad business.

One would be apt to feel a bit uncomfortable, I imagine, if one thought that any moment one of the arteries in either location was going to spring a leak and flood the place. I wouldn't speak of such a disagreeable thing did I not believe that it is an unnecessary accident and is preventable.

We will review the causes of high blood pressure.

1. Psychic—fear, excitement, anger, excess worry. All these can produce a temporary rise. The internists say this is largely because of the pouring into the blood stream of the powerful secretions of the ductless glands. If these emotions are indulged in too frequently, there may be a permanent rise of the blood pressure.
2. Over-eating and over-drinking.
3. Over-exercise and overwork.
4. Chronic toxemias.
5. Obesity.

How many of these causes are operating in your case? Angry passions? Over-eating of meat, causing intestinal putrefaction—over-eating of starches, sugars and fats, causing obesity? Over-exertion to great fatigue? Chronic poisoning from decayed teeth, diseased tonsils or other spots of infection? Drugs, excess tea, coffee, tobacco? Are you loading your body with excess fat, making your heart work many times harder to drive the blood through the upholstering, and finally degenerate to fat itself?

Whatever you are doing, if you want to lower your pressure cease thinking, and talking about it—except to your physician—and bid the cause of your trouble a forceful farewell.

Most overweight individuals have high blood pressure. Reducing the weight reduces this markedly and quickly. Hundreds of the F. F. F. who have written to me telling me how much they have lost by following our course of reduction, also tell me that their blood pressures have been lowered. One of our followers reduced her weight forty pounds and her b. p. forty points. It was 180 when she began our course, on her physician's recommendation, and when she wrote four months after beginning counting the Causative Calorie it was 140.

Low blood pressure, while it is usually found in the debilitating diseases such as anemia and tuberculosis, is found in many individuals apparently in perfect health. It alone is not considered by the insurance companies, I am informed, as a debar to insurance.

It has been demonstrated recently that the drinking of a quart or two of water more than the usual amount during the day will lower the blood pressure. This is explained by the theory that the poisons which have been causing the constrictions of the arteries are diluted. There may be a temporary rise before the pressure falls, so this should be used with caution. It would be better, it seems to me, to stop the supply of poison.

Remember not to allow your thoughts to dwell on your high blood pressure. Worry over your condition will increase it.

Repeat the doggerel I gave you: Every day, in every way, my pressure gets lower 'n lower! Repeat it ten times when you feel the worry coming on. Be careful not to exceed this number. We don't want it to get too low!

Practical Housekeeping

Relishes.

Pepper Relish — Wipe twelve green bell peppers and twelve red peppers, cut in halves lengthwise and remove seeds. Pare three medium-sized onions, add to peppers and force through meat chopper. Put in pot, cover with boiling water and let stand ten minutes; drain, again cover with boling water, bring to the boiling point and let stand ten minutes. Drain as dry as possible, return to pot, and three tablespoons salt, two cups sugar and one quart of cider vinegar, bring to the boiling point and let simmer twenty minutes.

Corn Relish — Select one and one-half dozen ears of tender corn, remove leaves and chop one bunch of celery. Peel four onions and cut in thin slices. Wipe two green peppers and chop them. Put all on preserving kettle and pour over four cups cider vinegar. Mix two cups sugar, one cup flour, one-half cup salt, one-half teaspoon mustard and one-fourth teaspoon cayenne with four cups of vinegar. Combine mixtures, bring to boiling point and let simmer forty minutes, fill glass jars and seal.

Mexican Pepper Sauce — Scald and peel firm red tomatoes, cut into small pieces and drain thoroughly. There should be three quarts of pulp. Skin white onions to make one cup, seed the red peppers, then run through good chopper; add to tomato pulp, add four tablespoons salt and one and one-half cups vinegar; cook until reduced one-third. Now add two cups sugar, four teaspoons Mexican Chili powder, six teaspoons of tumeric, mace and cinnamon, and cook very slowly one and one-half hours. Pour into jars and seal when cool.

Green Cucumber Piccalilli — Select firm green cucumbers as for salad, pare and scrape out the seeds, run through food chopper (there should be six cups); add one-third cup salt and set aside over night. In the morning drain in a sieve, then measure. Seed three red and one green pepper, skin four onions, run through chopper, and add to cucumbers, mixing well. Now boil one and one-half cups vinegar with one and one-half cups sugar for fifteen minutes and when cool pour over the prepared pickles, add two tablespoons mixed spices, stir together, and fill into sterilized jars. Seal and store in cool place.

Chow Chow—Cut up one half peck of green tomatoes, two medium-sized heads of cabbage, one dozen small cucumbers, and pack in salt over night. Next morning, drain and soak in fresh water for two or three hours; drain again thoroughly, then mix with two cups of grated horseradish, one-half cup white mustard seed, two tablespoons celery seed, two tablespoons black pepper, two tablespoons ground cinnamon, five cups of brown sugar and four tablespoons ground mustard. Pour over this one gallon of boiling vinegar, and let stand over night. The next morning put all the ingredients in preserving kettle and boil for ten minutes. Seal while hot.

Chili Sauce—Finely chop one-half peck tomatoes, four onions, three pods of green pepper. Put in preserving kettle with four cups of vinegar, one-fourth cup brown sugar, three tablespoons salt, one teaspoon each of cinnamon, allspice, nutmeg and cloves. (Put spices in bag). Bring to the boiling point and let simmer three hours, or until thick.

Apple Catsup—Mix one cup of sugar, one teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon mustard, two teaspoons cinnamon and one tablespoon salt; then add two finely-chopped onions and two cups cider vinegar. Wipe, quarter, core and pare sour apples. Put in saucepan, cover with boiling water, bring to the boiling point and let simmer until soft and nearly all of the water has evaporated, then rub through a sieve. (There shold be four cups of apple pulp). Add first mixture to apple pulp, bring to the boiling point and let simmer one hour. Bottle, cork and seal while hot.

Beauty Chats

ANSWERED LETTERS

To Marie N. and all other inquirers for information on Dr. Emile Coue's method of healing the sick.

If you will forward a s. a. envelope I will send you the name of a most interesting book on Dr. Coue's method. I cannot give you this information through the column since it might be construed as advertising.

Dullia:—The description of your eyelids leads me to think that you are suffering from eczema. This trouble brings on a dry skin condition that is both itching and sore. Quite naturally, your lashes would be thin and would fall out. I will be glad to mail you a formula for an excellent eyelash tonic, if you wish to try home treatment, but it is best to consult your doctor about the condition which is at the root of the trouble.

Archibald's Sister:—Your brother should use a stiff brush on his feet instead of immersing them so long in hot water. The best soap for this purpose will be one in which there is some salicylic-acid. If that is not easy to procure, however, use any of the soaps that have antiseptic properties. This scrubbing should be done every night, followed by a liberal use of an astringent powder. Such a powder may be made at home by shaking together 65 grammes of starch, 5 grammes of burnt alum and two and half grammes of salicylic-acid.

Anxious:—If your feet are always blistered after wearing a new shoe, you must be selecting cuts of foot gear that do not suit the shape of your feet. Your feet may be very sensitive, requiring a soft leather and a flexible sole. Such a shoe is always well made.

Irene:—After you extract this superflous hair with the tweezers it will return. But the act of tweezing does not cause the hair to come back either coarser or more plentiful.

Sola:—If you open the pores by using hot applications, more oil will be absorbed by the skin during during the massage. The treatment is, therefore, more beneficial when the heat is not omitted.

Constance C.—You should not feel sensitive to the criticism of your friends when they assume that you are too particular about cleanliness and neatness. These qualities should be so natural that their presence should be taken for granted. If you did not have a regard for these details, possibly you would not have advanced as you have in your positions.

Jay S.:—Many people are using henna to brighten the shade of that ashen hued blonde hair since it is a coloring tonic.

With blue eyes, a rosy complexion and such hair as you describe, your colors are all shades of blue, green and brown, although you will not find any color unbecoming.

Tomorrow—Healthy Nails

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Mrs. D. J. Keim Has Recipe for Pickles

With the summer season at its height the Glendale housewives are busy canning fruit, making preserves and jellies and other good things. Mrs. D. T. Keim of 342 West California street is responsible for the recipe for keeping cucumber pickles, which method she states is most successful, and because of its simplicity will be welcomed, no doubt, by the housekeepers.

Take two quarts of cider vinegar, a cup of ground mustard, one cup of sugar and one of salt. Mix together well. Put pickles in stone crock or glass jar and cover with the cold liquid. Tie a cloth over the top. Mrs. Keim states that the pickles prepared in this manner will keep more than a year.

STILL FALLING DOWN

Hep White remembers that when he was 10 years old he was much depressed to read in Harper's Magazine that St. Paul's cathedral in London was about to collapse. He was afraid he wouldn't get to see it before it fell. That was forty-seven years ago and Hep hasn't been to London yet. This week he received another warning in his daily paper. It was a dispatch from London and said that St. Paul's cathedral was about to collapse. Hep doesn't know what to do about it.

Side Talks

THE USAGES OF RAIN

Whenever the weather interferes with my life by staging a rain storm, when I have some out-or-door work or pleasure planned, I always wish for the umpty umph time when it will do all its raining between 2 and 4 in the morning when most self-respecting people are in their beds and would not be inconvenienced.

And then, having wished that, I always retract because I know I should miss an occasional rainy day.

Rain, like all the other troublesome things in life, has its usages, contrast being one of them. There is no joy as keen as the relief from pain. There is no sunshine so bright as that that comes after three days of stormy weather.

The Three-Day Rain

And speaking of three days of stormy weather brings me back to what I started to sepak of—namely, another usage of rain which has recently been borne in on me.

If you want to learn more about a person's character than you would learn in three years of ordinary intercourse, you want to be shut up in the house with him or her during a three-day rain.

(Sometimes, alas, you find you didn't want to).

Eleanor Hallowell Abbott had a serial a few days ago on this theme. A host and hostess invite some oddly mixed groups of people each year to their country home during the week in April when it is almost certain to rain, because they find that under these circumstances the veneer wears off of people very quickly and things are sure to happen.

Either Edgy or Grumpy

I like thrilling things, but the house-party that happens in the story doesn't appeal to me a bit. I shall never invite guests for "rainy week" to my house.

Three days of rainy weather is quite enough for me. There are a great many people who can't stand up under it and not grow grumpy and depressed, or edgy or impatient. When I do find such a person I honor him—and envy.

It is interesting, though, to observe how the surface begins to wear off and the underneath traits, both pleasant and unpleasant, begin to show up under such conditions.

A Pre-Marriage Test

Living in the house with anyone always presents him, or her, in a new light. Did you ever have a friend as a guest or host for the first time that you did not thereafter conceive a different conception of him or her? Mind you, I don't necessarily mean a less pleasant conception, but simply a different one. And when you intensify the guest and host relationship by the agency of rain, you speed up this change.

If I were going into business partnership with a man I should like nothing better than the chance to be a fellow guest of his for a three-day rain.

And if one were going into that most important and most taxing of all partnerships what a wonderful test such a chance would be! Tomorrow—The Greater Marvel.

The RIDDLE of the FROZEN FLAME

by-M.E.&T.W. HANSHEW

Copyright, 1920 by Doubleday, Page & Company.

"I'm not a superstitious man, Mr. Headland, but that old wives' tale of the Frozen Flames, and the new one coming out every time they claimed another victim, seemed to have burnt its way into my brain. That and the champagne together, and then close upon it Dacre Wynn's foolish bet to find out what the things were. When I went up to my room, and after saying goodnight to the doctor here, closed the door and locked it, I then crossed to the window and looked out at the flames. And as I looked —believe it or not, as you will— another flame suddenly sprang up at the left of the others, a flame that seemed brighter, bigger than any of the rest, a flame that bore with it the message: 'I am Dacre Wynne.'"

Cleek smiled, crookedly, and went on stroking his chin.

"Rather a fanciful story that, Sir Nigel," he said, "but go on. What happened?"

'Why, I fired at the thing. I picked up my revolver and, in a sort of blind rage, fired at it through the open window; and I believe I said something like this: 'Damn it, why won't you go? I'll make you go, you maddening little devil!' though I know those weren't the identical words I spoke. As soon as the shot was fired my brain cleared. I began to feel ashamed of myself, thought what a fool I'd look in front of the boys if they heard the story; and just at that moment Dr. Bartholomew knocked at the door."

Here the doctor nodded vigorously as though to corroborate these statements, and made as if to speak.

Cleek silenced him with a gesture.

"And then—what next, Sir Nigel?"

Merriton cleared his throat before proceeding. There was a drawn look upon his face.

"The doctor said he thought he had heard a shot, and asked me what it was, and I replied: 'Nothing. Only I was potting at the flames.' This seemed to amaze him, as it would any sane man, I should think, and as no doubt it is amazing you, Mr. Headland. Amazing you and making you think, 'What a fool the fellow is, after all!' Well, I showed the doctor the revolver in my hand, and he laughingly said that he'd take it to bed with him, in case I should start potting at him by mistake. Then I got into bed, after making him promise he wouldn't breathe a word to anybody of what had occurred, as the others would be sure to laugh at me; and—that's all."

"H'm. And quite enough, too, I should say," broke in Cleek, as the man finished. "It sounds true enough, believe me, from your lips, and I know you for an honourable man; but—what sort of a credence do you think an average jury is going to place upon it? D'you think they'd believe you?" He shook his head. "Never. They'd simply laugh at the whole thing, and say you were either drunk or dreaming. People in the twentieth century don't indulge in superstition to that extent, Sir Nigel; or, at least, if they do, they let their reason govern their actions as far as possible. It's a tall story at best, if you'll forgive me for saying so."

Merriton's face went a dull, sultry red. His eyes flamed.

"Then you don't believe me?" he said, impatiently.

Cleek raised a hand.

"I don't say that for one moment," he replied. "What I say is: 'Would a judge and jury believe you?' That is the question. And my answer to it is, 'No.' You've had every provocation to take Dacre Wynn's life, so far as I can learn, every provocation, that is, that a man of unsound mentality who would stoop to murder could have to justify himself in his own eyes. Things look exceedingly black against you, Sir Nigel. You can swear to this statement as far as your part in it is concerned, Doctor Bartholomew?"

"Absolutely," said the doctor, though plainly showing that he felt it was no business of the supposed Mr. Headland's.

"Well, that's good. But if only there had been another witness, someone who actually saw this thing done, or who had heard the pistol-shot—not that I'm doubting your word at all, Doctor—it might help to elucidate matters. There is no one you know of who could have heard—and not spoken?"

At this juncture Borkins came quietly into the room, holding the revolver in his right hand, and handed it to Cleek.

"If you please, sir," he said, impassively, and with a quick look into Merriton's grave face, "I heard. And I can speak, if the jury wants me to. I don't doubt but what my tale would be worth listenin' to, if only to add my hevidence to the rest. That man there"—he pointed one shaking forefinger at his master's face, and governed into it for a moment—"was the murderer of poor Mr. Wynne!"

CHAPTER XVI.
TRAPPED

"You damned, skulking liar!" Merriton leapt forward suddenly, and it was with difficulty that Cleek could restrain him from seizing the butler round the throat.

"Gently, gently, my friend," interposed Cleek, as he neatly caught Merriton's upthrown arm. "It won't help you, you know, to attack a possible witness. We've got to hear what this man says, to know whether he's speaking the truth or not—and we've got to go into his evidence as clearly as we go into yours. . . You're perfectly right, Doctor, I am a policeman, and I'm down here for the express purpose of investigating this appalling affair. The expression of your face so plainly said, 'What right has he to go meddling in another man's affairs like this?' that I was obliged to confess the fact, for the sake of my self-respect. My friend here, Mr. Lake, is working with me." At this he gave Borkins a keen, searching look, and saw in the man's impassive countenance that this was no news to him. "Now then, my man, speak out. You tell us you heard that revolver-shot when your master fired from his bedroom. Where are your quarters?"

"On the other side of the 'ouse, sir," returned Borkins, flushing a trifle. 'But I was up in me dressing gown, as I'd some'ow thought that something was amiss. I'd 'eard the quarrel that 'ad taken place between Sir Nigel and poor Mr. Wynne, and I'd 'eard 'im go out and slam the door be'ind 'im. So I was keeping me ears peeled, as you might say."

"I see. Doing a bit of eavesdropping, eh?" asked Cleek, and was rewarded by an angry look from under the man's dark brows and a sudden tightening of the lines about his mouth. "And what then?"

"I kept about, first in the bathroom, and then in the 'all, keeping my ears open, for I'd an idea that one day things would come to a 'ead between 'em. Sir Nigel had taken Mr. Wynne's girl and—"

"Close your lying mouth, you vile beast!" spat out Merriton, vehemently, "and don't you dare to mention her name, or I'll stop you forever from speaking, whether I hang or not!"

Borkins looked at Cleek, and his look quite plainly conveyed the meaning that he wished the detective to notice how violent Sir Nigel could be on occasions, but if Cleek saw this he paid not the slightest heed.

"Speak as briefly as you can, please, and give as little offence," he cut in, in a sharp tone, and Borkins resumed:

APPARATUS AND DEVICES

AERIAL INDUCTANCE SWITCH

This is a very well made aerial inductance switch and should fill a long felt want in that the contact soldering tips are easily handled. The tap and arm contacts are especially well made. The heads are all of uniform height and do not offer any resistance to circular motion. One piece contact points with a grooved end are used for soldering. It is a simple matter, therefore, to twist the wire to be secured and then to solder it, and, when this is finished, the job is neatly finished. Instrument comes ready for mounting.

VACUUM TUBES IN TRANSMISSION

Vacuum tubes utilized for transmission require two sources of power supply, one to heat the filament and the other to supply the plate voltage. The former requires but a low voltage, and is readily obtainable from, say, storage batteries, but the high voltage requisite for the plate is often a matter of difficulty for the average experimenter.

The manufacturers of the only tubes avaiable for power transmission in this country have outlined the most feasible method for obtaining both sources of supply.

For the plate circuit power is available in three ways:

1. From a high voltage D. C. generator.

2. From a rectified A. C. source, using a two-electrode tube known as a Kenotron, previously described in this series.

3. From an A. C. source directly applied to the plate, termed self-rectification circuits.

If only a D. C. source such as 110 or 220 volts is available a high voltage D. C. generator should be obtained. If this is utilized, one provided with slip rings should be obtained to supply an A. C. electro-motive force for the filament, but this would require a stepdown transformer, now easily available. The generator should be capable of providing the necessary high voltage D. C., according to the rating of the vacuum tube you are using.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE WITCH HAZEL

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy softly tiptoed to the porch of the hollow stump bungalow and looked around the corner of a post.

"There he sits yet," murmured the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I wonder what in the world can be the matter with him?"

It was of Uncle Wiggily she was speaking, and the reason Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy was anxious was because the bunny rabbit gentleman had been sitting on the porch all day, and it was now about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

"Well, I'll wait a little longer," said Nurse Jane to herself, as she wiped a dab of flour off her nose, for she had been making a bread pie with carrot marmalade for trimmings.

For about the tenth time Nurse Jane tiptoed to the porch and looked: Uncle Wiggily was still in the easy chair.

"What is the matter?" asked the muskrat lady at last. "How are you, anyhow?"

"Oh, much better now, thank you," answered Mr. Longears, though, to speak the truth, Nurse Jane hadn't known anything was the trouble.

"Yes, I'm a great deal better," said the bunny, for he did not want Nurse Jane to worry about him. "I think I'll take a walk and look for an adventure and—oh, dear! Ouch! No. I guess I won't!" and Uncle Wiggily clasped his left hind leg in his two front paws:

"Come, Uncle Wiggily! This will never do! You mustn't feel so badly!" spoke Nurse Jane. "Cheer up, as the robin sings. See how the sun is brightly shining, and listen to the sweet singing of the birds. Think of all the children in the city who never get a chance to see the beautiful woods, except when some kind persons take them out to a Fresh Air Farm! You should be thankful that you can spend all your days here!"

Thus Nurse Jane tried to cheer the rabbit gentleman and make him forget his rheumatism, for she knew it was his rheumatism that was paining him, and causing him to cry "Ouch!"

"That's right, Nurs Jane. I should be happier," agreed the rabbit uncle. "It reminds me of a little song. It goes like this:

"Sing when you stub your toe,
Or step upon a thistle.
And if your throat is very sore
So you can't sing—then whistle!"

"Fine!" cried Nurse Jane. "That's the way to talk! You feel better already, I'm sure. Now I'll make you some carrot salad, and tonight you'll sleep well, to awaken in the morning all cured!"

"I hope so," said the bunny. "And while you are making the salad I'll hop around and see if I can find an adventure."

Uncle Wiggily wandered down a path through the woods, not far from his hollow stump bungalow. He was just wondering whether Mother Goose used any special blueing water to make the sky such a beautiful color when, all of a sudden, the bunny heard a sad voice crying:

"Ouch! Oh, dear! Oh, how they hurt! Oh, what shall I do?"

"Goodness, I hope that isn't anyone having teeth pulled!" thought Mr. Longears. "It almost sounds as though some one had the rheumatism, as I had. Oh, perhaps, it's the Fuzzy Fox making believe to be in trouble, so I'll come close and he can catch me. I must be careful!"

Uncle Wiggily looked carefully around and cautiously asked:

"Who are you and what's the matter?"

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! How glad I am it's you!" said a voice, and from behind a bush came Johnnie Bushytail, the squirrel boy. He was holding his paws over his eyes and, as he scrambled toward Uncle Wiggily, the squirrel boy bumped into tree after tree.

"What's the matter, Billie? Can't you see where you're going?" asked the rabbit uncle.

"No!" sadly answered the squirrel. "I was bringing home from the store a bottle of ammonia for my mother to put in the water when she washes the clothes. But I stumbled and fell, the bottle broke and a lot of the ammonia got in my eyes! Oh, how it smarts!"

"Never mind!" said Uncle Wiggily, kindly. "I'll soon stop your pain, Billie, my boy. I'll find some witch hazel and bind some of the leaves on your eyes."

Uncle Wiggily looked around and found a witch hazel bush.

'Oh, dear! Ouch!'

On it were green nuts which soon would be brown and ripe. But now Uncle Wiggily had no use for the nuts. The bunny pulled off some of the leaves, put them in his handkerchief and then pounded them between two stones to make the witch hazel juice run out. This gentle healing juice the bunny squeezed into Billie's eyes and bound on some of the bruised leaves.

'Oh, all the pain is gone!" soon chattered Billie. "My eyes are much better now. Thank you! I'm so glad!"

"So am I glad!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. And just then the Woozie Wolf jumpeu out of the bushes and was going to bite Uncle Wiggily's ears. But the bunny gentleman took the broken bottle Billie had brought from the store. In the bottom of the bottle remained a little of the strong ammonia.

"There! Try that in your eyes!" cried the bunny as he threw the ammonia in the face of the Wolf.

"Oh, wow! I can't see to nibble ears!" howled the bad chap, and away he ran. Then Uncle Wiggily took Billie home, after getting a new bottle of ammonia and the bunny said he had a fine adventure.

So if the shoe brush doesn't go out walking by itself and forget to take the stove polish to the moving pictures, I'll tell you tomorrow night about Uncle Wiggily and the baby bird.

They Say That

Up to July 1 surplus war material valued at $139,773,986 was delivered to the States for use in road construction, according to a report of the Bureau of Public Roads of the Agriculture Department.

The material, which consisted of all sorts of supplies and equipment suitable for road building for which the War Department had no further need, was distributed on the same basis as monetary Federal aid.

New York and Texas lead in value of material delivered, with nearly $8,000,000 worth, and every state, with the exception of five of the smaller ones, received supplies valued at more than $1,000,000.

"This material has been of great value in road construction," said an official of the Bureau of Public Roads, "and there is hardly a county in the United States in which some of it has not been used.

"Probably of greatest value has been the 29,325 motor vehicles distributed, consisting of 24,752 trucks and 4,573 automobiles and, in addition, a large number of tractors."

The system of distribution, the Bureau stated, has been so arranged that the states requisition only material useful to them. In some cases they fall behind in allotments in order to wait for material particularly desired.

Great ingenuity has been shown by many states in conditioning worn equipment, using war material to equip shops in which other war material is made suitable for use, according to Government observers.

A large quanity of material still remains in the United States for distribution, the Bureau stated. This will be further increased by supplies used by the army of occupation in Germany soon to be brought back.

WAS A BOTTLE BABY

David Ferber, New York, pushed a baby carriage down a residence street and invited every man to look at what he had inside of it. The "baby" in the carriage was a bottle of liquor, from which he sold drinks at 50 cents a drink. Prohibition must be prohibiting in New York. But what of men who will buy drinks from such a peddler and pay 50 cents for a chance to commit suicide?

Service That Fulfills Promise

He will succeed, for he believes all he says.
—Mirabeau.

Earnestness of purpose is one of the indispensable factors of success. To hold public confidence, one's promises and declarations of policy must be carried out in every business dealing.

In the profession of undertaking, or any other, just as in merchandising, promise of fair dealing and faithful service can bring success only when he who utters it believes all he says, and carries out in action the principles on which he invites patronage.

The L. G. Scovern Co. not only declares for fair dealing, lowest pricing, faithful service, but completely believes in such principles, and carries them out in every day's work. Which is one explanation for Scovern preeminence in its chosen field.

YANKS HAVE BEST OF BROWN SQUAD IN HILL WORK

Three Games Out of Four Show Something; Sudden Return to Form

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—If it comes to a head and dash down the stretch to the wire, as it most certainly will, the New York Yanks enjoy an advantage over the St. Louis Browns in the one department that ultimately wins and loses all ball games—pitching. For three days out of four the Browns will have virtually nothing to say for publication in this respect.

Urban Shocker is the best right hander in the American league, but no one man can pitch a ball club into a pennant. The fact that the Browns are up there at all is due to the early season victories of Van Gilder, Pruett, Kolp and others. The fact that the Browns now trail the Yanks by a game and a half, thanks to the Yanks winning three out of four in the series just closed, is due to the late season flop of Van Gilder, Pruett, Kolp and others.

Now for Huggins, the man who knows plenty about baseball in general, but little about the science of pitching. He cannot be spoken in the same breath with Lee Fohl when it comes down to a matter of developing pitchers and nursing them along. Yet to Huggins, the hit or miss manipulator of pitchers, has come the great boon of poor pitching suddenly becomes good.

Huggins has had nothing to do with the sudden return to form of Hoyt, Mays and Jones nor of the steady all season performances of Bush and Shawkey. This just merely happened.

Fohl, on the other hand, has managed Davis, Pruett, Van Gilder, Bayne and Shocker to such judicious effect that it was not until recently that St. Louis pitching really began to look a bit careworn.

Perhaps Fohl will be able to work a couple of them into form when the club returns to St. Louis. If he does, at least one section of the world's series is likely to be played no further east than the west bank of the Mississippi, for the Browns are a team that needs less natural aid than the Yanks.

Miller Huggins and Players Get Fined

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—President Ban Johnson of the American League handed a series of fines to players and to Manager Miller Huggins of the Yankees, as a result of his investigation of a game played in White Sox Park, August 1, which was called in the New York half of the fifth inning because of rain.

Johnson fined Bobby Meusel, Everett Scott, Waite C. Moyt, W. H. Schang, Ray Schalk, B. A. Falk and Urban C. Faber $25 each. Manager Huggins was fined $100. A repetition of the offense will cost all concerned suspension for ten days without salary, he stated.

According to reports of Umpires Moriarity and Dineen, players on both teams were guilty of "stalling" by either trying to hurry or delay the game, and a forfeiture by the umpires was impossible under the existing circumstances.

Manager Huggins "played the most important part in the program of "stalling," the report stated. Five days was allowed in which to pay the fines.

The game in question will be played over at some date to be fixed later, it was stated at President Johnson's office today. The question before the moguls relative to the re-playing of the game was whether under the circumstances the game could be considered as one regularly called, on account of rain and to be replayed. By some it was held that, due to the "stalling" by the players, the game should be started at the point where it was called. It was finally decided, however, that the game would be re-played entirely, rather than to be started at the inning in which it was called.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Jack Dempsey says he'll fight for a half million dollars. Who wouldn't?

We were just thinking if Dempsey considers half an hour's work in the ring worth a half million dollars, what salary, per annum, should be for the Chief Justice of the United States? This is not a slam at what we have been paying Dempsey. Rather, it is a knock at what we pay the aforementioned Chief Justice.

Yachtsmen already are beginning to scent another international yacht competition for the America's Cup in 1923. The doughty Sir Thomas Lipton seems to be getting restless again for another try at lifting the trophy. Sir Tom already has established a reputation as a glutton for punishment. At that, there are few sportsmen but what would like to see him carry off the trophy, after his many plucky but unsuccessful attempts. It would be for the best interests of international yachting if he pulled the trick.

The open season soon will be on for reports from this or that college or university, telling about the mountain of a guard, or wildcat of a halfback that has signed up for the football squad. They may look tough and fast before they get into their football togs, but after they've been rolled around the gridiron a bit they seem to diminish in size and slow up in speed. It's the same every spring when the preliminary baseball training camps are opened. It is given to but few to set the athletic firmament ablaze.

"I've nae sunk ma last putt," cheerily remarked John Black, master golfer, as he sat in a wheel chair in an Oakland, Cal., hospital, recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident. For a while Black hovered between life and death. As to whether or not he has sunk his last putt in his old-time form, time alone can tell.

"Ty Cobb trailing in batting list," says a sports headline. All of which simply meant that the Georgia Peach stood second, with an average of .400, which is tolerable in a gent who has spent about two decades playing the national game. A good batting eye has to be backed up by sensible living, and this is one of the great reasons why Cobb has maintained his place for so many years. He looks to be good for a considerable spell yet.

Sport High Spots

Twenty-two sterling athletes from the Los Athletic club will leave Los Angeles within the next day or two for Sacramento, where they will compete in the Far Western Track and field meet to be held in that city on Saturday. The squad will be in charge of Bob Weaver, Coach Dean Cromwell and Captain Feg Murray, who selected the members of the team at the tryouts held last Saturday at Bovard field. The following stars were chosen to wear the L. A. A. S. insignia: Earl Thomson, Bud Houser, Flint Hammer, Spec Schiller, Otto Anderson, Oliver Corey, Glen Hartranft, Norman Anderson, Dick Emmons, Alma Richards, Gerpheide, Martz, Courage, Forward, Shaw, Stoard, Dorsey, Nash, Towle, Sencerbox, Hughes and Chapman. Of the group the first named ten will continue to Newark, New Jersey, where they will participate in the annual national A. A. U. track and field championships the latter part of the month.

Danny Kramer, well known slugging left hander, will again feature in a main event at Jack Doyle's Vernon arena tonight when he will meet Ernie Goozeman in what promises to be a big affair. The semi-windup will be a tilt between Bobbie Allen and Eddie Mahoney. Other bouts on the card, as announced by Matchmaker Wad Wadhams, will include Bobby Gray vs. Joe Grimm, Jimmy Moyer vs. Sailor Constantine, Georgie West vs. Billie Kennedy, Larry Murphy vs. Willie Jackson, Lucky Lugo vs. Ernest Owens.

John "Hack" Hackensmidt, local heavyweight grappler who recently held Toots Mondt to a draw in a match at the Glendale Elks' time limit wrestling contest on club, has been signed to meet Constantine Romanoff in a two-hour Saturday night at the Philharmonic auditorium. The bout is being arranged under the auspices of Los Angeles Post No. 1 of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, and is to be the main event of a high class card of mat contests.

Take the trouble to test your tires. It pays.

New York Yankees Win 10-Inning Game

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—In a bitter ten-inning struggle here Monday St. Louis lost to the New York Yankees 2 to 1. The Yankees increased their hold on first place to a game and a half.

Meusel's long sacrifice fly in the eleventh inning, scoring Dugan, who was on third, with the winning run, brought to an end a game replete with fancy and spectacular fielding and which had approximately 23,000 fans on the nervous seat throughout.

Olympic Club Wins Honors at Swimming

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 29.—The Pacific coast swimming and diving championships at Coronado Sunday saw the breaking of nine association records. Olympic club of San Francisco won first honors with fifty-five points. Los Angeles Athletic club was second with twenty-two and Venice third with ten points.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 29. — The brunette championship of the heavyweight universe will come down to a decision at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, tonight, in the meeting of Harry Wills and Tut Jackson, colored gentlemen. The bout is scheduled to go fifteen rounds to a decision, but no one is betting any of his very good American money that such will be the outcome.

Mr. Wills swings a very mean punch with either hand or both, and Mr. Jackson is said to be a believer in the theory that it is far more noble, not to say expeditious, to give than receive. In other words, Mr. Jackson doesn't particularly care about being made the object of some rough person's attack. Mr. Wills is reasonably rough.

He should stop his man any time the spirit moves him, and since the build-up for a Dempsey bout would be considerably enhanced thereby, the chances are good that Wills will waste no valuable time. Further, should Jackson last the distance or, worse still, get the decision, Wills would be eliminated as a championship contender without further notice.

He cannot afford that any more than the ordinary man can afford to wear pink tights in public. Therefore, it is reasonable to expect that nothing of the buck-and-wing will be in evidence during the excitement. Both should give their best at all times. Wills because he is shooting at a Dempsey match, Jackson because he will be making his first appearance before a critical Eastern crowd.

Jackson's record shows unmistakable signs of careful match-making or lack of suitable opposition in the happy hunting ground in which he carried on his previous operations. It is very long on knockouts at the expense of unknown pushovers.

From what has been learned of his ring mannerisms, the opinion is ventured that his only chance tonight lies in getting over one from the shoe tops in an early round. Wills is not hard to hit, and if hit right will not come back any better than the average ring man. His chin is said to be just a bit fragile.

However, if it is to be a choice between chins we will take that of Wills on general principles. It may be as weak as they say it is, but few can speak with authority on the matter owing to the fact that the so-called Black Panther has kept them too busy guarding their own.

"BY THE OCEAN AND BAY"

We have now opened an office in Room 16, Central Building, to accommodate those in Glendale who are interested in the greatest real estate investment in Southern California.

Buy Now--Build When You Can!

Without any doubt, Long Beach, the fastest growing city in the world, is destined to be a city of 250,000 by 1930. Henry P. Barbour, President of the Long Beach Realty Board, and pioneer, predicts ONE MILLION inhabitants by 1937!

Present figures cannot deceive! In the past two years this city has grown from 55,593 to 90,000; almost an average growth of 20,000 a year. Disregarding a percentage rate of increase, each year, a conservative growth in eight years by 1930 positively assures 160,000 newcomers, or a total of 250,000!

Not only the population growth, but the new manufacturing interests, bank deposits and clearings compel this prediction to come true!

$750 and UP!

Putting it off is decidedly dangerous, for in the entire history of Long Beach nothing has equaled the sale of Belmont Shore Place lots since they have been put on the market!

SEE and BUY while you can at these low prices.

Daily Excursions

Excepting Monday, take you to this Wonder Spot. Once you arrive, a boat trip on Alamitos Bay, a trip to the Seal Herd, and a delicious dinner follow each other in quick succession. And then an opportunity to inspect these incomparable homesites.

JAZZ GIRL'S FATE IS PORTRAYED BY WM. DE MILLE

Vital Problem of Today Is Presented in Manner Amusing, Artistic

What may happen to the modern jazz girl in her pursuit of pleasure-at-any-cost, is vividly portrayed in William de Mille's latest Paramount Picture, "Nice People," which will be shown at the T. D. & L. theatre for three days beginning today.

The producer has achieved the unique distinction of presenting a vital problem of today in a manner that is entertaining, amusing and artistically perfect.

Rachel Crothers' play, of the same name, furnished the theme for Mr. de Mille's latest screen drama. Clara Beranger, who adapted the story for the screen followed the original play in most important matters while adding several valuable scene sequences which the limitations of the stage forbade in the original story.

A truly all-star cast is seen in "Nice People." Wallace Reid plays the role of the young American who is unacquainted with the modern and sophisticated girl. Bebe Daniels is delightful as the girl. Conrad Nagel gives one of the finest characterizations of his career as the male counterpart of the "jazz" girl.

Chiefs of Big Four Plan Secret Meeting

Nervous Stomach CAUSES GAS

Gas in the stomach and bowels doesn't always result from dyspepsia, improper diet or the fermentation of food. In most cases it is due to a highly sensitive condition of the stomach nerves.

To get rid of the trouble, you must build up and strengthen these weak, irritated nerves of the stomach. Taking artificial digesters, such as pepsin or bismuth, only makes the stomach weaker than ever. It is like using dope to deaden a pain—the relief given is deceptive and harmful.

Baalmann's Gas Tablets act directly upon the affected nerves and gradually assist in restoring them to their natural, healthy state. Gas and bloating will quickly disappear, and you will no longer be bothered with pain around your heart, palpitation, shortness of breath, gnawing at the pit of the stomach or distress after eating, due to gas. Ask for Baalmann's Gas Tablets in the famous yellow package. Price $1. Sold by Roberts & Echols. J. Baalmann, Chemist, San Francisco.—Advertisement.

CAR AND DRIVER SOUGHT HERE BY SCOUTS

Boys Want Motorist to Take Four Delegates to Annual Conference in North

Is there a big-hearted man in Glendale who has a good automobile and a desire for the companionship of four Boy Scouts for a week?

That is the question which the Verdugo Hills District Council of the Boy Scouts hope to find an affirmative answer for within the next day. The man is asked to apply at the District Boy Scout office, 108 North Brand boulevard at once.

Friday afternoon, in Sacramento, the annual Older Scout conference opens, continuing until Sunday afternoon, September 3. Boy Scouts from all over the state meet at the conference and state fair service camp. Verdugo hills council has been invited to send four delegates.

At a meeting of the troop leaders' round table, held last night in the district Scout office, three of the four best qualified Scouts to represent this district were selected. Clifford Walcott and Dallas Kovalt of Troop No. 2, Glendale, and John Moulder of Troop No. 1, Tujunga, were named, and the fourth boy is to be selected today. The four, with the man who volunteers to take them to Sacramento, must leave Glendale tomorrow in order to reach Sacramento when the conference opens Friday afternoon.

To Have Banquet

On Friday afternoon the delegates report to the conference. In the evening a complimentary banquet is given the Scouts.

Saturday morning the Scouts will gather in conference. The Sacramento Kiwanis club will act as host at a luncheon. Each council represented will stage a demonstration of Scout activities in front of the grand stand at the fair, and then the Scouts and their escorts will make the rounds of the fair free of charge. In the evening the Rotary club will give a barbecue and campfire.

A farewell dinner by the Sacramento Rotary club will close the conference.
